Overview

Benjamín is the managing partner of Dentons Muñoz's El Salvador office and has been a legal consultant for multiple leading local and international companies in various industries. He has participated in several national and multijurisdictional legal projects, including the structuring, negotiation and execution of acquisitions, financial arrangements, business planning and conflict resolution. He leads the office's teams handling corporate law, commercial law, mergers and acquisitions, banking, finance and energy matters, including the oil and gas sector.

From 2008 and 2012, Benjamín served as director of the Salvadoran Sugar Industry Council (Consejo Salvadoreño de la Agroindustria Azucarera, or CONSAA), a public entity formed by the government and private-sector sugar mills and sugar cane producers.

Prior to joining Dentons Muñoz in 2017, Benjamín spent 16 years at Arias & Muñoz before founding the law firm Rodríguez Molina Abogados in 2016.

Recognition

- Benjamín was included in the Who's Who Legal Directory as practitioner in Competency Law in 2016.
