

First 2019 Latin American Construction Law' Conference

大成 DENTONS MUÑOZ

November 21, 2019

The first Latin American Construction Law Conference held in San José, Costa Rica concluded with great success last Friday, November 15.

Dentons Muñoz had the honor to co-sponsor this meeting organized by the Costa Rican Federated Association of Engineers and Architects and the Latin American Construction Law Association (ALDEC by its Spanish acronym). Speakers from Brazil, Mexico, Peru, Chile, England, Switzerland and France, experts in FIDIC Contracts, Dispute Boards, and Arbitration, convened.

Costa Rica is at the forefront of FIDIC Contracts implementation in Latin America, and Dentons Muñoz, through its Public Law practice area has an important track record in this field, and is developing greater strengths to advise construction companies in the country.

Our Director of Public and Environmental Law, Kathya Araya, and our Of Counsel, Marco Lino López, participated in the congress.
