Overview

Oliver is a successful trial lawyer from the Republic of Nicaragua, with more than 20 years of experience in Civil Law, Civil Procedural Law, Banking Law, Corporate Business Law, Financial Market Law and Dispute Resolution.

His experience and exceptional performance developing innovative and timely legal strategies have consolidated his professional standing before Nicaraguan companies, in the Financial and Banking, Insurance and Reinsurance sectors, and in the Supreme Court of Justice. He also has a solid track record as corporate legal advisor for local prestigious companies.

He is known in the legal community for his ethics and he has built a valuable network of contacts to conduct his strategic processes.

He has been working as Legal Vice Manager of Judicial Affairs for Nicaragua's Largest Bank since 2008. He has excelled in legal advice on all active, passive and neutral transactions of the Bank, dispute resolution and favorable judgments, judicial and extrajudicial collection of all credit products, as well as Factoring and Trust.

He has been recognized for achieving 100% success rate in filing lawsuits and legal collection strategies with favorable resolutions and a 100% favorable sentences as where the Bank was the defendant. For more than 10 years, he has been distinguished as a collaborator of excellence in the evaluation of institutional performance and for consolidating an organizational climate of excellence for his work team.

He was also, for more than five and a half years, Vice Legal Director for the National Insurance and Reinsurance Company where he contributed to win the case with the highest matter value in the company's history. He began his career as a Judicial Proceeding Secretary for the Supreme Court of Nicaragua, where he worked for three years.

He began working at Dentons Muñoz as Of Counsel for Nicaragua's office in June 2019.
